This is the wireframe for the dashboard It is based on Reddit's style, but modified since Reddit and Tumblr are websites for different purposes. I tried to make it as simple as possible, but keeping as much information and posts as possible:

This is an image of my Tumblr dashboard:

The final Tumblr build did not go the way I wanted. Tumblr had a limited number of tags and different posting style than what I wanted. I wanted more text and information on the posts, but was unable to. Also, Tumblr had an infinite scrolling which I was unable to implement, but I wanted a page by page method anyway. My webpage is based on simplicity.
